

Scenario 4

In this data statistics on soccer players are measured. They quantify the number of goals, number of shots on goal, number of misses, number of saves, number of steals, assists, turnovers, etc. Each variable represents one of the statistics, and they have been standardized. There might be missing values, non-normal distributions, and outliers in the data.

Your primary job is to summarize the variation in the style of play of the soccer players.